

Lab 1

In this lab you will learn the basics of working with git and GitHub, and practice some of the material we have learned so far.

1. The first step would be to visit <https://github.com/skiadas/WebAppsLabs> and fork it over to your GitHub account, if you have not done so already.
2. You need to then check out the correct branch.
3. Follow the instructions in the README file there.
4. Commit your changes, review them, and when you are ready to submit simply email me a link to your project and the SHA of the commit that contains your final submission.